The building's layout includes a basement used as a garage, a ground floor with a private garden, a bright first floor with a terrace ideal for al fresco dining, and a penthouse with an additional rooftop terrace. All homes are identical, with 3 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms, and an additional space for a washer/dryer, aerothermal heating, and a small storage area.

The open kitchen is integrated with the living room, providing access to a sunny, south-facing terrace with mountain views.

The location is the highlight of this project: just steps from the town's most popular schools and sports facilities, and close to the mountains for walks or bike rides. Apartments with communal pools and gardens are practically nonexistent in the center of Roses, which adds great value to this unique offering.
